

CAW News Flash
February 28, 2007

New Examination Information:

The new CSET: Writing Skills examination is available to candidates starting with the May 19, 2007 administration. The examination was developed in response to SB 1209 (Chap. 517, Stats. 2006). Coded Correspondence 06-0021 announced the change to the basic skills requirement.

Candidates can start signing up for the May administration in March. The fee will be posted as soon as the Commission takes action on March 8 to set the fee amount. The passing score will be set after the May administration to meet the July 1, 2007 implementation date in statute. Passage of the CSET: Writing Skills examination, when used in combination with passage of all three subtests of the CSET: Multiple Subjects examination, will satisfy the basic skills requirement and meet subject matter competence for the multiple subject credential.

The link to the CSET website that has registration information for the writing skills part of the exam: http://www.cset.nesinc.com/CS12_writingskills.asp.

Further information on the fee and the period of validity for this new examination will be available and distributed after the March 8 Commission meeting.